Headline:
Rain, heaviest in west, some brighter spells east.

Today:
Mostly cloudy and breezy with some rain, persistent and occasionally heavy over the Isles, Lochalsh and Lochaber, but patchier in northeast Highland with some brighter spells. The Western Isles will turn drier with some sunshine later, with winds easing. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud and rain over much of Highland will clear east through the evening. The rest of the night will be mainly dry and clear with just an isolated coastal shower. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
A mainly dry and bright day with some sunny spells. The Hebrides may cloud over later with the odd shower, and the Caithness coast may also be cloudier. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Bright or sunny spells on Sunday but the chance of some heavy showers. Mainly dry and bright on Monday and Tuesday but becoming wet and windy on Tuesday evening.
